EMERGENCY BLOOD SHORTAGE BLOOD DRIVE

Next Sunday, August 28

9:15 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. in the New York Blood Center Mobile Bus outside our church

Recent national tragedies are reminders that it is imperative for the New York Blood Center to always have an adequately stocked blood supply to respond when our communities are faced with patient traumas or other events that require life-saving blood products.

BLOOD TYPES NEEDED: The local blood supply has reached a critically low level, with under a two-day supply of O-negative, B-negative, and A-negative. O-negative blood donors are considered "universal," and their blood type is needed most readily in trauma situations and emergency rooms. Due to its high demand, O-negative blood is in short supply and NYBC encourages individuals with this blood type to consider stepping forward and donating. By donating, you are potentially saving the life of someone in need.

DONOR REQUIREMENTS: Blood donors receive free mini-medical exams on site. Donors must be age 16 or older and weigh a minimum of 110 pounds. Parental consent required for 16-year-olds; those age 76 or older may donate if they have a doctor's note on file with New York Blood Center or if they bring one on the day of the blood drive.

To prepare to donate, eat well and have plenty of water the day before. For other questions, call the New York Blood Center (1-800-688-0900) or visit www.nybc.org.

A soul that magnifies the Lord

by Sr. Maria Veritas Marks, OP

Each year, as August 15 approaches, I think of a priest who died on the eve of that great feast of the Assumption. His deep devotion to Our Lady and daily sacrifices for his flock prepared him for his ultimate self-gift in death. Maximilian Kolbe? Yes, but, for me, also Monsignor Funaro, my parish priest.

Joe Funaro grew up in Brooklyn, the son of a plumber and a stay-at-home mother. His bright red hair came with a personality to match. When the desire for priesthood dawned in his heart, he had to pay his own way through seminary. So, at night and on weekends, he worked as an animator for Paramount: Casper the friendly ghost was his creation.

During this time, he began to experience severe headaches. Eventually, they became so debilitating that he could only obtain relief by lying on the floor with his feet propped against a piece of furniture. A brain tumor was suspected, and Joe decided to visit Lourdes to ask Mary to heal him and allow him to reach the priesthood. After he bathed in the waters there, his headaches vanished permanently.

As a little girl, I was sitting in the pews as Monsignor told this story. I finally understood why every single one of his Masses began with his sure voice leading us in “Hail, Holy Queen, Enthroned Above” and ended with “Immaculate Mary.”

Perhaps it was because he had fought so hard for the priesthood that he lived it with such intensity. Monsignor’s was a true father’s heart that expanded to embrace every person who came to him. His merry kindness brought many back to the Church.

Days before entering the convent, I approached the sacristy after Mass to ask his blessing. By this time, his legs were failing him, and he had obtained a dispensation to sit during the celebration of the Mass. This suffering, with the disappointment and loneliness that must have accompanied it, he never mentioned.

In the sacristy, I found him sitting in a chair gazing quietly out toward the sanctuary. Kneeling beside him, I begged his prayers. “You have them,” he replied, looking down at me with unaccustomed gravity. “Every day after Mass, I sit here and look at the statue of the Blessed Virgin and entrust to her all my intentions. Including your vocation.” Less than two weeks after I made vows, he rendered his soul to God.

Monsignor Funaro lived magnanimity, or largeness of soul. The magnanimous person knows his own talents, not as his own but as given him by God for the good of others. He embraces arduous tasks with enthusiasm, confident in God’s help. He avoids complaining, because he sees the frustrations of life as part of a larger tapestry woven by God’s loving hands. Let us ask of Our Lady the virtue of magnanimity, which she possessed to the full: “Let it be done unto me according to thy word.” God’s plans for us, as for her, always exceed the wildest expectations.

Lots of Pennies!

Meet the Students Behind the Penny-A-Day Appeal

With Father Passenant are Aaron Adviento (left) and Craig Newton (right). Both young men are students at Regis High School in Manhattan and participants in the Arrupe Project to help a worthy charity in the local community. Their Penny-A-Day appeal raised $1,214 last Sunday for the St. Vincent de Paul Society, which feeds and clothes individuals and families in need. That’s a lot of pennies—and four times their hoped-for goal! Huge thanks to everyone who contributed, and especially to Aaron and Craig for their leadership and gift to the community.

O Immaculate Heart of Mary, full of goodness, show your love towards us. Let the flame of your heart, O Mary, descend on all people. We love you immensely. Impress true love in our hearts so that we have a continuous desire for you. O Mary, gentle and humble of heart, remember us when we are in sin. You know that all men sin. Give us, by means of your Immaculate Heart, spiritual health. Let us always see the goodness of your motherly heart and may we be converted by means of the flame of your heart. Amen.
